I don't know why adults are making such a big deal about the amount of time teens spending texting. It is a great way to keep in touch with your friends and know what people are doing and where they are.

Activity 19b. Professional Email Etiquette

1. Email Etiquette: Include a subject line that “helps” the reader

Possible Reasons:

A meaningful subject line to clarify what your message is about and also might help the reader to prioritize reading your email.

2. Email Etiquette: Include a greeting (Dear...) and a closing (Sincerely,)

Possible Reasons:

Email should mimic a written letter. Always begin with Dear... and end with Sincerely. Sincerely is often the best professional choice for a closing.

3. Email Etiquette: Use business language, spell check, and avoid abbreviations

Possible Reasons:

Emails are considered professional or business correspondence. You want to be sure everything is spelled correctly and can be easily understood.

4. Email Etiquette: Avoid using ALL CAPS

Possible Reasons:

ALL CAPS USUALLY MEANS YOU ARE SCREAMING AND NO ONE LIKES TO BE YELLED AT IN EMAILS.

5. Email Etiquette: Do not use jokes, witty remarks, or sarcasm

Possible Reasons:

Jokes and witty remarks may be inappropriate and often do not translate well in email (since the reader decides the “tone”).

6. Email Etiquette: Avoid gossiping or complaining

Possible Reasons:

Emails can be forwarded to others quickly. You never know who will see/hear what wrote.

7. Email Etiquette: Keep the communication short and to the point

Possible Reasons:

Anything long or complex should be addressed in person or over the telephone.

8. Email Etiquette: Do not use emoticons (for introductory emails)

Possible Reasons:

Business emails should not use emoticons because they are not considered professional- plus not everyone knows what they mean. If you know the person, you can use them sparingly (if you want to shed light on how you are feeling).

9. Email Etiquette: Reread before hitting “send”

Possible Reasons:

Once you hit “send” there is no turning back.
